Foreword

To an appreciative public, it is a source of gratification to present Vol. II, Early Records of Georgia, a continuation of Wilkes county, so vitally connected with the history of Georgia, and probably the most far-reaching and important in genealogical source material.

No claim is made that these two volumes could possibly cover the records of this old and populous county for the period designated. They are a mere working foundation for more extensive research by those whose ancestors were early settlers of Wilkes, the parent county of all of Elbert, Lincoln and Oglethorpe, and part of Warren, Greene and Talliaferro counties. Nor is Vol. II a sequel to Vol. I. For a complete survey of the given period one is dependent upon the other.

Probably the most valuable and interesting data contained in Vol. II are the original papers, stored in attic and cellar of the old and new court houses since being returned for record, very little of which was transcribed into the county books. Their abstracting required the handling of thousands of papers, many of them mere scraps. All genealogical and historical facts therein are here compiled in convenient form.

The somewhat wide patronage accorded Vol. I leads us to hope Vol. II will be as graciously received. The leading public libraries and universities all over the United States have been eager purchasers.

Again the compiler makes grateful acknowledgment to Judge Richard O. Barksdale, Judge of Court of Ordinary; to Hon. Frank E. Callaway, Clerk of Superior Court; to Mrs. Sarah Quinn Smith for her unselfish and arduous labor in sorting the original papers; and to friend and husband, John Lee Davidson for his untiring efforts in helping to compile this volume.

THE COMPILER.

Remnant Tax Digest

Leaves Gone Front and Back

EXPLANATORY

This is the first tax digest found in the court house, and was taken to give a practically complete census of the heads of families of that date, to identify their lands as headrights, and possible bounty grants for Revolutionary service, and to replace in a measure the census of 1790, all of which for Georgia was destroyed by the British during the War of 1812 in Washington, D. C. There is no complete digest until 1802, only a few pages left in the interim. The remnants for 1792, 1793, 1794 have been published in "Some Tax Digests of Georgia" Ruth Blair, State Historian and Archivist, and give valuable information.

Page 329—HILLHOUSE, SARAH. Georgia, Wilkes Co. I Sarah Hillhouse of the county and state aforesaid being of sound mind and memory and desirous of securing the inheritance of my property in justice and equity, do make and ordain this my last will and testament as follows: As I have already given my son the greater part of my property, I presume he will not expect any addition at my death although my unabated maternal affection would induce me to do more, could it be done in justice to his sister. And having been repeatedly solicited by my son-in-law Felix Gilbert not to give his daughter Sarah Alexander any part of my estate because of the large property he should leave her. In justice therefore to my daughter Mary Shepherd and her family I feel it my duty to comply with his oft repeated request, I give and bequeath the whole of my property of every description personal and real for her own individual use and benefit and behoof. I do hereby give and fully grant unto her the right and privilege of selling, exchanging or any way altering the property real or personal that I may leave in whatever manner she may think best, the same to her children at her death. It is particularly my wish as my daughter has the management of the property coming to her children from their father's estate and also of my own that they should be perfectly satisfied with whatever may be done by her or by her consent in the management of their property in either estate, and as I have perfect confidence in the equitable manner in which she has already and will continue to manage their property and though it may not be in strict compliance with the letter of the law with a view therefore to prevent any difficulty between my daughter and her children or between the children themselves it is particularly my wish and direction that in case any of her children, their heirs or representatives should ever demur to or contend for anything different than she may have done or directed to be done or may hereafter do in the management either of their fathers or my property, that one or those thus contending shall be and are by my last will entirely excluded from all part, share or benefit of my property of every kind otherwise left them through their mother. I request my daughter Mary Shepherd to act as my executor of this my last will and testament in this most liberal intent and meaning, feeling the most unbounded confidence in her justice and maternal affection. In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and seal this first of February Eighteen hundred and thirty one. (Signed) Sarah Hillhouse.

ORIGINAL PAPERS

The people of Wilkes county and all descendants of the early settlers of the county, whether residents of our own Empire State of the South, the crowded centers of the north and east, the fertile deltas of the Mississippi, in sight of the snow capped Rocky Mountains, midst the golden orange groves of California, or beyond the domain of our beloved America, owe a debt of gratitude to Sarah Quinn Smith, herself a scion of the very cream of the pioneers of this historic area, who with no thought of renumeration, actuated by a passionate desire to preserve the history of her beloved state and county, rescued these priceless original papers from further loss, and made them available for publication. To her only is due the credit for their restoration and preservation.

The following abstracts were made from these original papers, stored in utmost confusion in attic and cellar of both the old and new courthouses. No doubt thousands were lost, destroyed by vermin, burned as trash, and stolen by vandals. Nothing we can do now could possibly replace them for the use and instruction of present and future generations. We can only register their loss as a tragedy with similar losses in many other old counties of Georgia.

Wilkes county was the scene of stirring events. The few records touching the Revolutionary period give us reason to believe there were others in existence. If such papers had been preserved, they would have made a wonderful contribution to the glorious history of Georgia.

The authenticity of these documents can not be questioned. The returns of administrators, executors, guardians etc are the identical papers returned to the Register of Probate for record, in the older papers the actual receipts of heirs, legatees and wards in their own handwriting. To a modern doctor, the accounts of the doctors of that day would give an insight into their methods of treatment probably not found elsewhere, certainly not in published history. Little of this material was recorded in books, which still further enhances its value. No price could possibly be placed on these original papers. Nothing short of their being carefully arranged, and placed in the fire proof vault of the Judge of Court of Ordinary should be considered for a moment, regardless of expense. They fairly scintillate with the forgotten history of the past. No modern fiction excels them in tales of human interest. They are all that is left to tangibly link us with the pioneers whose ashes have made sacred this historic ground, and whose descendants, legion in number, are scattered to the ends of the earth.

CHIVERS, THOMAS dec'd. Francis West and wife and other legatees, vs. Robt. Chivers surviving excr. Interrogatories: Hezekiah Ellington of Talliaferro Co. He heard Thos. Chivers say the land known as Long Bluff was for Robt. Chivers or intended for him in the presence of Thos. H. and Lewis Chivers and Rebecca Ellington. He married one of the daus of Thos. Chivers, dec'd and was much with the family. He and Jas. Chivers exchanged land. There was no titles to any of land given his sons by Thos. Chivers. Feb. 18, 1831. Interrogatories of Wm. Kemp of Wilkinson Co. Jul. 30, 1830 He has known the land since 1784 or 1785 when he had it run, when it contained 575 acres, does not remember when he deeded the land to Thos. Chivers, but acted as agent for several years. John Mercer of Washington Co. rented the land before Thos. Chivers death, after which Robt. Chivers rented to Uriah Mitchell. John Lawlion of Washington Co., says he surveyed land granted himself which he conveyed to Robt. Chivers, and it adjoins Long Bluff, Feb. 14, 1831. Interrogatories of Seaborn Jones, Dep. Shff, Washington Co., He does not remember selling land for Robt. Chivers as excr, but he may have sold it in the fall of 1830. Interrogatories to Nancy Hinson residing outside Wilkes Co., but no answers. Interrogatories of Jos. E. Plummer of Laurens Co. Ga., Jul. 31, 1830. In 1823 he bargained with Robt. Chivers for land on Deep creek Washington Co. and when he went to pay for it Robt. said it had been sold by the excrs of his fathers estate and he had to purchase it. Frederick Metz also of Laurens Co. says Robt. Chivers sold Fort & Wells 675 acres on Oconee. The deeds were in the hands of Francis West and John Mercer of Greene Co. the last I heard of them. Interrogatories of Sarah Chivers of Talliaferro Co., saying she had heard Thos. Chivers say above land was Robt. Chivers, no date. Algernon S., Jas. M., and Jane A. T. Chivers, by their gdn Archibald Gresham vs. Robt. Chivers surviving excr of Thos. Chivers, dec'd. Interrogatories of Nathaniel Harris of Walton Co. He says the Long Bluff tract was the property of Robt. Chivers etc. Jun. 17, 1831. Sarah E. Chivers of Wilkes Co., says she married a bro of Robt. Chivers and has known him about 25 years. She heard Jas. Chivers tell his father in the fall before he died, that his land was not worth as much as the other sons land. Thos. replied that because Joel married first he had to give him the improved farm, and as Robt. was the oldest he gave him the Long Bluff tract, and as Thos. was the youngest he would give him the tract whereon he then lived as he expected to live with him the rest of his life. Mar. 3, 1831. (Hezekiah Ellington's Interrogatories go with the childrens).

Georgia Putman Co. By virtue of a commission issuing from Wilkes Co., interrogatories made to Frances Wright. Only the answers given: She says she knows Wm. Cox, Andrew Ruddle and Robt. Flournoy, but neither of the others. She knew a negro woman Hannah in possession of Nancy Cox, which she came possessed of under the will of her father Abraham Cox. Nancy brought Hannah from Va., upwards of 30 years ago, and sold her to Andrew Ruddle about 1804. Before the sale was made Wm. Cox notified Ruddle that Nancy had only a life est in the negro and my father then exhibited to the said Ruddle a copy of said Abraham Cox's will. Ruddle said he would give just as much for the slave regardless of the will. He knew when he bought her the exact circumstances. Nancy also had a slave Jarrett, the last time I saw Hannah she was in possession of Andrew Ruddle and the last time I saw Jarrett he was in possession of said Nancy. If Nancy had any other slaves I do not know it. I have never heard it disputed that Nancy has been dead two years. Feb. 1, 1828. Irby Hudson, J. I. C.

MURRAY, ISAAC vs Carlton Welborn. Georgia Lincoln Co. By virtue of a commission from Superior Court of Wilkes Co., we have caused Margaret Jeter and Frances Gartrell to come before us to answer interrogatories in above case Aug. 16, 1825. Margaret Jeter says she was present at the marriage of Isaac Murray and Matilda Gartrell, she heard Jos. Gartrell father of Matilda Murray give Matilda slaves Martha, Davy and Ned a few weeks after their marriage, the day that Isaac Murray moved from the house of his father-in-law Jos. Gartrell, and my father Francis Gartrell, my first husband Jere. Gartrell, Jos. and John Gartrell were present as witnesses. Jos. Gartrell the father asked that Martha and Ned be left with him till he paid a debt to Abram Simons, and Davy as long as Jos. lived. I remember Isaac Murray did receive from his father-in-law Jos. Gartrell three slaves, a woman and her two children about the time he started to move to Tenn., may be the same day, sometime in July 1814. I was present, but heard no conditions that said slaves were to be returned at any time. Francis Gartrell says he (or she) was present and called on by my brother Jos. Gartrell to witness the gift of three slaves, Martha and her two boys Ned and Davy, that he wished to keep the first two till he paid Abram Simons and Davy may be during his life as a mill boy. This was soon after the marriage of Isaac Murray and Matilda Gartrell and the day they started to Tenn. in June 1814. Joseph gave them three slaves independent of the above named and no conditions of returns made.

State of Georgia
Wilkes County } By his Honor Benj. Talliaferro, Esqr., Judge of Superior Court of said county, To:

Jos. Stiles and John Hutchinson, Esqrs. Whereas there is a certain matter of controversy in the Superior Court of this county viz, Admr of Jas. Neesmith, applt, vs Elijah Clarke, respt. Whereas John Greene is an important witness in this case, you are appointed to examine him, agreeable to the interrogatories hereunto annexed, to be returned sealed before court to be held in Wilkes Co., Nov. 20th, next. Jan. 10, 1797. Benj. Catching, C. S. C.

Interrogatories to be exhibited to John Greene of Richmond Co.

No. 1. Do you know the parties in the above case?

No. 2. What was the mode of disposing of property taken in the British lines during the late war and what was the character of the widow Neesmith and her family, also Col. Jas. McCoy, the Rev. Mr. Mobley, Wm. Ennis, Gill Thomas, Jas. Gray, Wm. Ryalls, Francis Paris, Mrs.

Esther Griner, and Mary Miller. Relate specially and tell all you know relative to the above case in favor of the respondent. M. Williamson, Respt. Atty.

The Admrs. of Neesmith, Applt. vs Elijah Clarke, Respt. Georgia Richmond Co. Pursuant to a commission from the Hon. the Superior Court of Wilkes County to us directed. We have this day caused John Green, Esqr, the witness therein mentioned to come before us and after being sworn on the Holy Evangelist of Almighty God to answer the Questions therein proposed in truth deposeth and saith.

Answer to 1st Question. I do know Elijah Clarke also Samuel Godby, who I am informed is the Admr. of NeeSmith.

Answer to 2nd. The mode of disposing of the Enemy's property was by selling and dividing among the Captors, and if property taken in the British lines proved afterward to belong to the friends of this Country it was returned to them after deducting one third for salvage. The character of the widow NeeSmith was notorious to be the enemy of the friends of this Country and that she did aid and assist the British and Tory's of every description all that in her power lie, and I do think and believe that the property of NeeSmith came as fully under the Act of Confiscation as any other person or persons whatever, not particularly named in that Act. I also know that Col. Jas. McCoy was an active officer, (and always believed him to be a good man) in the cause of the Liberty of this Country; The Rev. Mr. Mobley was an inactive Tory; Wm. Ennis I know nothing personally for or against; Gill Thomas was an active man in the cause of the Freedom of this Country; Jas. Gray was a Capt. of the Tory party and known to be an Enemy of this Country; Wm. Ryalls took protection under the British, but his general character was that of an honest man; Francis Paris I conceived to be an Enemy to this Country, but his character was that of an honest man; Mrs. Esther Griner, I did not know, her character was not very fair at that time; Mary Miller I do not know. The line between us and the British at that time was, (as I understood), from the Hudsons on Savannah river to the mouth of Little Ogeechee where it empties into Big Ogeechee. I also knew Michael Jones who acted as a Lieut. in the American Service, was very active and frequently down in the British Lines. I also knew Samuel Moore, a person named in the Act of Confiscation (as well as I recollect) that he was an Active Capt. in the service of the British and that he married the Daughter of NeeSmith, that he was a vile murderer and robber, and told me himself that he robbed Gen'l. Clarke of a number of Goods and that there was one man who was guarding the General's Wagons at the time, killed by one of his party and this happened sometime after the British left Savannah. That the said Moore was harboured at the widow NeeSmiths as well as many others of his character, and this deponent further sayeth that he had lost some property and went to the Widow NeeSmiths to enquire after the said Moore to get from him the property the deponent had lost, and that the widow directed this deponent into the Swamp where he might find said Moore, who was only to be seen by such as would pledge their word not to take his life, that she could confide in; that the deponent went into the Swamp where he found the said Moore, who confessed he had taken it and made restitution and gave him the above information respecting the robbery of Gen'l. Clarke, and further this deponent sayeth not. Signed J. Green. Taken and sworn to at Augusta before us, this 16th, day of November 1797. Jos. Stiles, J. P., John Hutchinson, J. P.

ROSTER OF SOLDIERS AND CIVIL OFFICERS FOR THE PERIOD OF THE WAR OF 1812

This Roster is on beautiful paper, in a clear, perfect handwriting almost like engraving. Service as Justice of Peace, and Sheriff is accepted eligibility to United States Daughters of 1812 from 1784 to 1816, which makes this Roll of utmost value to them or prospective members.

Most of the warfare on land was done by the Militia and every able-bodied male over sixteen was enrolled, subject to call upon alarm of raids by Indians. Certain days were designated as "Muster Days" and all reported at the county town for drill and instruction from their officers.

Vol. 1 also gives many records of service, and such records are sometimes found in returns of estates in this volume also.

FIRST MARRIAGE BOOK

1806-1834

Arranged Alphabetically as to Men's Names

There was no law requiring record of marriage in Georgia prior to 1806, and comparatively few were recorded previously. Probably most of the original bonds were returned to the Register of Probate for preservation. Only a few survived careless handling, lack of proper facilities for safe keeping, and the troublous times of the Revolution and Indian depredations following.

It would be safe to assert that less than half the marriages after 1806 were recorded, due to indifference of ministers and Justices of Peace who performed the ceremonies, the crude methods of travel, trails infested with hostile Indians, which discouraged journeys to the county town.

In Wilkes county many were probably burned with Will Book "D D" (See Vol. 1, pp 45-47). Other documents prove many marriages between people known to have lived in the county from the first settlement up to 1834, for which no original bond or recorded marriage could be located.
